

SPEAKERS BUREAU

Presentation Information

Presentation Category	Miscellaneous Topics
Presentation Title	The Devil is in the Details
Presentation Length	4 Hour Minimum, 1-2 Days for Extensive Training
Presentation Objective	To educate investigators at a scene on where and how to find critical evidence in OIS cases or homicides...areas we are not trained in...testimony presentation explaining findings from scene analysis.
Presentation Description	Reconstruction at site visits. Blood patterns, DNA, ballistics, wound pathways all for the investigator to work with. Multiple current case examples are shown from around the country that speaker is involved in.
Speaker Name & Session	Rod Englert, Session 159
Speaker Phone Number	503-522-7059
Speaker Email	rod@englertforensics.com
Speaker's Biography	Chief Deputy (Retired) Rod Englert, a 58-year veteran of law enforcement, retired as Commander of the Operations Division, Multnomah County Sheriff's Office, Portland, Oregon, in 1995. He started his career with the Downey, California Police Department after graduating from the Los Angeles Police Academy. In 1969 Chief Deputy Englert moved to Portland, Oregon and joined the Multnomah County Sheriff's Office. A large portion of Chief Deputy Englert's career has been associated with working major crimes, narcotics and homicide. His expertise is in the area of homicide crime scene reconstruction and blood spatter interpretation. After retirement, he became and remains a member of the Multnomah County Sheriff's Office Cold Case Homicide Team. Rod Englert received a Bachelor's degree in Police Administration from California State University at Los Angeles. He is a graduate of the FBI National Academy, where he was President of the 159th Session.

Chief Deputy Englert has conducted over 660 lectures and training seminars on managing criminal investigations, solving unresolved homicides, blood spatter interpretation and crime scene reconstruction to law enforcement personnel, district attorneys and private attorneys in 35 states as well as in Canada, Russia, England, France, Portugal, Cuba, and South America. He has consulted in over 560 homicides in the United States and Canada. He has testified and is a qualified court expert in crime scene reconstruction and blood pattern analysis in 27 states.

Englert is a member of the International Homicide Investigator's Association; several states' Homicide Investigator's Associations; a Fellow, Distinguished Member, President (2001/2002), and Chairman of the Board (2002-2003) of the Association of Crime Scene Reconstructionists; a Fellow in the American Academy of Forensic Sciences; and is Past-President of the International Association of Blood Pattern Analysts. He has received the Lecturer of Merit and Distinguished Faculty Awards from the National College of District Attorneys.

Rod Englert is the author of Blood Secrets: Chronicles of a Crime Scene Reconstructionist (Thomas Dunne Books/St. Martin's Press, 2010). Part autobiography and part casebook, Blood Secrets has earned praise from such respected sources as Publishers Weekly, which dubbed it "a fascinating journey into the study of crimson drops....deftly balanc[ing] real-life examples and scientific analysis."