

SPEAKERS BUREAU

Presentation Information

Presentation Category	Executive Leadership
Presentation Title	The Four Keys to Effective Police Leadership
Presentation Length	90-120 Minutes
Presentation Objective	People, places, the things they do, and the times they do them are four basic things that new officers need to know. Those same four points of focus can help senior and executive level leaders guide their agencies in a manner that promotes professionalism, attentiveness to the community, and officer morale and resiliency. This presentation provides the participants with examples of how these four keys can facilitate effective leadership. Additionally, senior and executive-level leaders are often in positions where they make critical decisions. Sometimes those decisions can be viewed as setbacks or failures. The presentation provides insight for law enforcement leadership to effectively deal with setbacks and move forward.
Presentation Description	In these challenging times, law enforcement leaders face increased calls for accountability and transparency. Additionally, the communities that we serve are often calling for police to be more aware of the needs and perceptions of the people they serve. Despite the external demands on the police leadership, senior and executive level supervisors must be mindful of the welfare of the agency, understand the importance of dealing with setbacks and failure in themselves and others, and maintain a focus on the wellness of the men and women under their command, their family and loved ones, and themselves. This one and a half (1.5) hour block of instruction provides information to the students that they can incorporate into their personal leadership style to improve their ability to support the officers and the agency in which they serve.

Speaker Name & Session	Paul Bailey, NA Session 281
Speaker Phone Number	(732) 856-0611
Speaker Email	pbailey@middletownnj.org
Speaker's Biography	Paul Bailey is a professional police executive with over 30 years of service and experience. He is actively serving as Deputy Chief of Police with the Middletown Twp. Police Department in Middletown, New Jersey. Paul has a broad range of professional experience, having served as a Patrolman, Field Training Officer, Detective, Sergeant, Lieutenant, and Detective Bureau Commander. In his current assignment, Deputy Chief Bailey oversees the Office of Professional Standards and Training. Additionally, he has served as the Public Information Officer for the Department for the last 9 years. Deputy Chief Bailey is a graduate of the FBI National Academy, Session 281. He has a Bachelor of Arts Degree from Glassboro State College (now Rowan University) and a Graduate Certificate from University of Virginia. Paul is an accomplished instructor, public speaker, and author, having had articles published by Police 1 Magazine and the FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin. He has also had the honor of presenting to the FBI National Academy, the United States Army, and other municipal Police Departments on the topics of leadership, resiliency, and overcoming adversity. Additionally, he is the owner of Bailey Training &amp; Consulting, specializing in training on the topics of leadership, supervision, crisis communications, and resiliency.